YOUR NEWSPAPER BRINGS A MESSAGE

Twenty centuries ago a guiding star... a star of hope promising much to expectant mankind... led three Wise Men to a lowly stable in the little town of Bethlehem.

Twenty centuries, and today, as a world pauses, humble and shot with a glowing spirit of happiness, your newspaper comes to you asking that it may continue in its chosen course... tireless and unfailing service to you and your community.

It is our wish that this newspaper, dedicated to the provision of news, leadership, education, and the sponsorship of moral and civic idealism, be permitted to carry into your homes, not for this one time only, but for an entire lifetime, this same spirit of unselfish service to all.

We consider Christmas an institution successfully serving an inner need, an institution based on old, well founded precepts, as well adapted to the needs of today as it was twenty centuries ago, an institution capable of fulfilling an age-old requirement ... that of joy to mankind.

It is our hope that from this day you will gain the full measure of joy. Merry Christmas!

Mrs. Gehring Dies In Florida

Mrs. Marian True Gehring, widow of the late Dr. J. G. Gehring of Bethel, Maine, passed away at the winter home of her son, Dr. G. B.
Gehring, at Miami Beach, Fla., on Saturday afternoon, at the age of 87.

Mrs. Gehring was the daughter of the late Nathaniel T. True and Mrs.
Suzanna Stevens True. Born at Bethel, Maine, and educated by her father. The Beloved Teacher, at Gould Academy, she graduated from Bradford Academy, the then leading institution for the education of young people in Massachusetts, and went to Boston to study music.

In 1879 she married Mr. George B. Gehring, of Boston, a retired Civil Engineer and made her home in Boston until his death in 1886.
She then returned to Bethel, and in 1888 married Dr. John G.
Gehring of Cleveland, Ohio. For the next 40 years she made possible by her brilliant gifts the background against which Dr. Gehring built up his life work as a psychiatrist in the treatment of nervous and mental disorders, until Dr. Gehring retired from active practice. For the next 10 years Dr. and Mrs.
Gehring spent their winters in California and Florida until his death in 1922. Thereafter, Mrs. Gehring made her winter home with her son in Florida.

Devoted to education and the cultural advancement of young people, Mrs. Gehring's influence was felt far and wide during her long residence in Maine. Gould Academy, as it stands today, is the result of many years of effort on her part to

BOY INJURED IN COLLISION OF SLED AND CAR

While sliding on the Main Street sidewalk about 7 o'clock Wednesday evening Herman Robertson, Jr., nine year old son of Mrs. Sadie Robertson, collided with a car driven by Parker Tanner. The car turned from Main Street onto Elm Street. The boy was not injured but went between the front wheels of the car. He suffered a broken leg below the knee and severe head bruise. He was taken to the Bethel Community Hospital by Mr. Tanner. But in expectation of his return to his home today.

Sliding Place Needed

The accident described above was the result of a lack of sliding place for children. The safest and best place in the village appears to be the slope on High Street. In recent years since the coming of winter use of automobiles and extension of Elm Street to Main Street, dangerous intersection is created in this hill. Last year a sign was placed at that point to caution drivers but objection was raised against closing upper Elm Street. Although the street was responsible for such traffic as was needed on High Street, the street was closed Monday and children been responsible there since.

Prohibition of sliding is neither feasible nor desirable, but it can be regulated. It is not expecting too much to ask that upper Elm Street be closed and kept closed High Street. If enough people ask this it can be done.

The Message of the Christ Child

In Bethlehem of old Judea
The Wise Men saw a star appear And gladly followed all the way To find the place where Jesus lay

The shepherds with their flocks
That night
Behold a glorious heavenly light
They heard the holy angels then Sing, "Peace on Earth Good Will to Men"

In little town of long ago
Where God such favor did bestow Lift up thy voice and to us say
"Tis this Holy Christmas Day That Heaven's just as near as when The angels sang, "Good Will to Men"

For every word with Christmas close Fall up the staircase of the soul
The spirit of the Christ Child dwells
In the hearts of the faithful All to be saved all hearts shall With gladness and love
Men

Anna Carlson Cook

The death of Anna Carlson Cook occurred in Glendora, Cal., on December 17th. Many Bethel people will remember Mrs. Cook and her mother as they lived in the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gehring for nearly 14 years.

After leaving Bethel, Mrs. Carlson married W. B. Cook, who at one time was a patient in the Bethel home. They lived in New York for a few years and later went to Glen-dora, Cal. Residing her husband and leaving a son, now in college, and a daughter, younger, also in college.
Her husband, G. W. Carlson, of Bethel, died.

A heavy snowfall fell on the roads in the vicinity of the village and all roads are closed.

THE MAINE MEETING PLACE

Newspapers and radio in Boston and New York are being employed at present in advertising the merits of Maine foodstuffs to the millions of consumers who live in these big centers of population.

The newspaper part of the program began on November 25 and will terminate on February 23. In advertisements advantageously displayed on the food pages, it urges housewives and other buyers to ask for Maine products.

The radio half of the program consists of a five minute broadcast three times a week between November 26 and February 23 over WOL during which the superlative quality of Maine foods is extolled.

In both the newspaper and radio campaigns, a cook book entitled "Delicious Maine Foods Prepared the Maine Way" is being offered to those who write in requesting it.

The campaign, abbreviated though it may be because of the limited amount of money available, has proved highly satisfactory. It presages an unprecedented demand for Maine products if it is possible in the future to be able to spend enough money in this way to sponsor a real campaign worthy of our agricultural and seafood industries.

Without question the public is taking heed to our suggestions that they buy Maine foods. Many who have done so have written to this office saying that Maine foods have more than lived up to expectations. Many have thanked us for bringing these foods to the attention of the buying public.

There is one rift in the future however when it is impossible for prospective buyers to identify Maine products on their grocer's shelves. Often even the grocer himself is unable to tell whether or not a product originated in Maine.

The present need of presenters is to have every food product in Maine labeled in some way so that identification will be easy.

This ad campaign does not mean that a measure is being taken which will mean that Maine food should be discarded and have the price tag torn into irretrievable.

When a plan submitted to the Maine Food Council, Department of Agriculture and the Maine Agricultural Experiment Station is approved, the Bureau of Plant Industry, United States Department of Agriculture, will adopt by process a plan which will mean that they will not only retain any goods which they have taken up in the past but will also take the full benefit of Maine foodstuffs.

The plan is simple. In agriculture and industry it is common practice in employing a common name of identification to be used in every product leaving Maine. Thus, all large, white, round potatoes to be shipped will be a common name and a common design. That submitted by Mr. J. J. J. is a design consisting of a sun and a hand holding a potato.

The plan is simple. In agriculture and industry it is common practice in employing a common name of identification to be used in every product leaving Maine. Thus, all large, white, round potatoes to be shipped will be a common name and a common design. That submitted by Mr. J. J. J. is a design consisting of a sun and a hand holding a potato.

For canned goods, the design may consist merely of a small sticker attached to the can. For potatoes, a tag on large bags or a special package for small lots of fancy bakings could be used. Thus every food stuff produced in the state could carry this mark of identification.

The advantages of this plan can hardly be overestimated. It offers a safe, sure, economical way to identify our products so that those who see them advertised can buy safe in the knowledge that they are obtaining real Maine foods.

It is a plan that will be beneficial to all, and not to any special group. The Maine agricultural and seafood industries need the benefit of advertising augmented by the advantages of having every Maine product proudly displaying to the world the fact that it came from the Pine Tree State and that it is the best product of its kind to be found anywhere.

Greenwood Center

The children in this place are enjoying a vacation of one week from their school at Locke Mills.

Mrs. Mary Mills is spending the week at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Shaw, Portland, and Ernest Martin, Norway, visited at R. L. Martin's, recently. Miss Winifred Bryant of Hove Hill was making calls in the place on Monday.

Maintaining the rat population of the typical farm costs the farmer from $35 to $50 annually, careful surveys show.

This flying fortress, in undergoing tests by army pilots at the Boeing Aircraft field, Seattle, Wash., before her delivery to the United States Army, nosed over in making a landing and slightly damaged the forward fuselage and propellers. Her four passengers were not seriously injured. The giant bomber, built at a cost of $2,500,000, has a wing spread of 105 feet, a length of 70 feet and a speed of 250 miles per hour. She has five machine gun turrets and can carry a ton of bombs 1,500 miles.
